Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from The Mohammedans of China There exist a few moniiments which are referred to in support of the early-entry claim; the most famous of these is a stone tablet in a mosque at Si-an fu, and it is dated A.D.742. The inscription on it says, among other things, The teaching of Mohammed prevailed at first only in the West and was not heard of in China until the time of the Emperor Kai Huang of the Sui dynasty (A.D.581-601), when it entered China and gradually spread throughout the Empire. The evidences for and against the genuineness of this monument have been carefully weighed by Mr. Broomhall, who concluded that it is an extraordinary forgery, a conclusion in which I concur. I need not here enter fully into the reasons for this judgment, but just remark that the date given is prior to the Hegira, and before Mohammed had received his first revelations. As the stone claims to have been erected only 140 years after the events referred to, it is not easy to account for such...
